
A. Patrick Garbin

www.patrickgarbin.com
www.patrickgarbin.blogspot.com

patrick@patrickgarbin.com
770.362.5785

PROFILE

Freelance Writer, Editor, and Researcher seeking to extend career in sports industry. Long-term career goal to continue to write, edit, and/or research as a sports historian and author sports-related books. Experienced freelance writer, with nearly a 10-year background in sports and technical writing.

Currently, contributing writer for Covers.com and Sports Direct Inc. and freelance writer and supervisor for Smartfolks, LLC. Author of four books on University of Georgia football. Also, maintains a blog focusing on UGA athletics with an emphasis on the history of the school's football program.

Has made public appearances, speaking to groups on the book publishing industry, its process, and college and UGA football. Has taken part in numerous book signings, as well as being featured in radio and television interviews.

WRITING / RESEARCH / EDITING EXPERIENCE

Author of Four Books

Then Vince Said to Herschel... The Best Georgia Bulldog Stories Ever Told

- Published by Triumph Books
- Contract signed December 2006, book released September 2007
- Forewords by Vince Dooley and Larry Munson
- ISBN-10: 1600780113, ISBN-13: 978-1600780110

About Them Dawgs! Georgia Football's Memorable Teams and Players

- Published by The Scarecrow Press, Inc.
- Contract signed April 2006, book released August 2008
- Foreword by Dan Magill
- ISBN-10: 0-8108-6040-6, ISBN-13: 978-0-8108-6040-7

The 50 Greatest Plays in Georgia Bulldogs Football History

- Published by Triumph Books
- Contract signed October 2007, book released August 2008
- Foreword by Charley Trippi
- ISBN-10: 1600781195, ISBN-13: 978-1600781193

Historic Photos of University of Georgia Football

- Published by Turner Publishing
- Contract signed April 2010, book released August 2010
- ISBN-10: 1596525770, ISBN-13: 978-1596525771

Current Writing Positions

- Maintains the About Them Dawgs! Blawg (www.patrickgarbin.blogspot.com)—a blog dedicated to University of Georgia athletics, and the only blog or website which focuses primarily on the history of the school's football program. Blog launched in April 2009 and affiliated with the Fan Vs. Fan network.
- Writes freelance articles for Covers and Sports Direct Inc. and blogs for PhilSteele.com.
- Works as a freelance writer and supervisor for the eight college athletics-related online trivia games at SmartFolks, LLC (www.smartfolks.net). "Smartest" games include the following schools: Alabama, Arkansas, Auburn, Florida, Florida State, Georgia, Georgia Tech, and South Carolina.
- Newspaper articles have appeared in the Gwinnett Daily Post and Naples Daily News from August 2004 to the present, reporting on both high school and professional sports.

Past Writing Experience

- Print articles have been featured in various college football-related magazines, including Gamecocks Illustrated and Gridiron Greats, and newsletters, including The Metro Competitor, the College Football Historical Society, and The College Football Historian.
- Senior Staff Writer for online sports news site FanStop.com (now defunct) from 2002-2005, covering ACC and SEC basketball and football.
- Featured Columnist at the Bleacher Report for University of Georgia athletics from 2009-2010.
- Online articles have been featured on The Tar Heel Radar and eSports Media Group, among others.
- Wrote scripts for on-air anchors while freelancing at CNN Sports Illustrated and CNN Sports in Atlanta, Georgia, from 2000-2004.

Recent Research / Editing Projects

- Carried out extensive amounts of research on books authored and edited, articles written, personal blog, and while working at CNN Sports Illustrated and CNN Sports.
- Consultant and editor for the books Yesterday and Today: Georgia Bulldogs and Yesterday and Today: USC Trojans, published by Publications International, Ltd. and released Fall 2009.
- Conducted research on behalf of Vince Dooley for his book, Dooley's Playbook, released Summer 2009.
- Research responsible for numerous changes and corrections made to the University of Georgia's football media guide beginning with the 2009 edition.
- Aided the College Football Hall of Fame in compiling information for its archives.
- Conducted research for WJBF News Channel 6 of Augusta, Georgia, for an aired story concerning UGA football.
- Member of the Intercollegiate Football Researchers Association (IFRA).

PERSONAL

- Earned BBA from the University of Georgia (August 1998) and Master's Degree from Southern Polytechnic State University (August 2004).
- Experience with many computer programs, tools and applications, including MS Vista, Windows 7, Access 2000, Visio, Java, Visual Basic, SQL, and Dreamweaver.
- Training in the martial art of Tang Soo Do and currently hold rank of Deputy Black Belt.

REFERENCES, WRITING SAMPLES, & COPIES OF BOOKS AVAILABLE UPON REQUEST